with life changes for a better future.*

SHOULD I CHANGE MY FUTURE?

We are living at the greatest time in all of human history. We are surrounded by abundant opportunities that we can take advantage of to realize our dreams. The only real limits on what we can be, do, or have are the limits we place on ourselves by our own thinking. Our future is virtually unlimited.

Today, we are confronted with more choices about how to live our lives and develop careers than ever before. Repeatedly, we are thrown into situations where we have to reinvent our professional, personnel, and relationship lines, redefining who we are and where we want to go.

Most of us ask ourselves questions such as: Can I use short cuts in life? What is the difference between being knowledgeable and being wise? How can I set goals for life? How can I influence others? How can I deal with the fear of change? How do I ask a question intelligently? How can I develop my intuition? How can I make decisions? How can I create a vision of my future? Can I understand the generation gap?

All the challenges we face right now are pressuring us to look differently, to sharpen and deepen our attention. To change in life, we need to shift our inner process to where we want to operate.

Whether you are a great leader, student, parent, worker, educator, artist, athlete, physician, manager, retiree, writer, or coach, whether you work alone or belong to a team or organization, you must understand that something has to change. The threshold must be crossed before something new can come about.

Change is an inevitable part of life. Everyone needs to question himself, or herself, on life's journey, opening the mind to new challenges regarding how to be great, how to communicate and network. Change is all about acquiring knowledge and wisdom, planning head, being able to influence, inspire, deal with change, negotiate, disagree, be a good citizen and have some common sense, reduce stress, use humor and have the intuition to facilitate success for a better future.

To realize your potential in life you need a detailed development program that will enable you to shape up your future. That is the purposes of Change your future now! - To help you to develop a clear and detailed program for your personal growth and happiness in life.

Available in Paperback and E-book, this 642-page personal development book proposes Questions, Reflections & Answers to help young and old struggling with life changes for a better future. Released by WebTech Publishing and is available in selected bookstores or online through www.lulu.com
